He's bright - er than ten thou - sand suns, With beams of mer - cy in his face.
 And chase the dark - ness of our night, And bring the na - tions home to God.

He's bright - er than ten thou - sand suns, With beams of mer - cy in his face.
 And chase the dark - ness of our night, And bring the na - tions home to God.

He's bright - er than ten thou - sand suns, With beams of mer - cy in his face.
 And chase the dark - ness of our night, And bring the na - tions home to God.

He's bright - er than ten thou - sand suns, With streams of mer - cy in his face.
 And chase the dark - ness of our night, And bring the na - tions home to God.
